ELEANOR MOODY-SHEPHERD RESOURCE CENTER FOR WOMEN IN MINISTRY

Since its founding in 1901 NYTS has been practicing “Gender Justice” by including women as well as men in its academic programs. The EMS Resource Center for Women of Faith has since 1986 sought to expand this commitment through conferences, other learning experiences, and fellowship events designed to support lay and ordained women of faith who are engaged in ministry. The Resource Center serves as an organizing forum for concerns and needs of women within the NYTS constituency. In its mission to facilitate dialogue among women in ministry, it pays particular attention to women’s ministries in a variety of cultural contexts, including African-American, West Indian, European-American, Korean, and Latina, and to the interfaith engagement of women across religious traditions. The Center hosts monthly gatherings throughout the course of the school year, and in June of each sponsors one or more intensive courses as well as a regular conference. Programs of the Center are open to both men and women.
